THEATER'S ORIGIN FAR BACK

May Be Traced to Festivals Held in Honor of the Mythological
God Bacchus.

Thinking back for the origin of any theatrical performance, our minds naturally revert first to Shakespeare and his Globe theater. Some of us would go back a little further, and many of us would choose Moliere, the plays he wrote and staged, often in the open,
for the va'n Louis and then, in his own theater, where, while he was the favorite of the king, he was the rage of France.

But these were only steps in the evolution of the theater and the play.
For the origin of all dramatic representations we must go back to the days of idol worship, when many gods were thought to rule the destinies of man.

Two brothers, Danaus and Aegyptus, sons of Belus, shared the throne of Egypt. After a particularly heated quarrel, Danaus, with his followers, set sail in search of a new land where he could rule alone. They landed near the Greek city of Argus, of which he shortly became king.

Here to celebrate his good fortune,
he instituted festivals in honor of the god Bacchus, who was supposed to have helped to make his undertaking successful. These festivals consisted of nothing more than riotous revelry, interspersed with songs, which, after the manner of the day, were most primitive and often coarse.

But the festivals soon became very popular and were held periodically all over Greece. From this beginning, in the form of a kind of public worship, which was the first entertainment or performance known, evolved the theatrical projects of later ages which developed into the institution of the theater as we know it today.

AGE AND THE POINT OF VIEW

How the Impression of the Youth of Twenty-One Is Properly Resented
by His Elders.

That reporting is a young man's business is illustrated in some newspaper every day by some news item telling about something, usually unfortunate, that happened to an old man or an aged woman, the Ohio State Journal observes. Often the aged person, it develops somewhere in the story, is fifty-three, we will say,
or somewhere between fifty and sixty.
As every editor has reason to know, this youthful point of view of the reporters not infrequently is resented by the aged person referred to.
To be run over by the motorcar was bad enough, but to be called aged is adding insult to injury. Nobody under seventy seems old to himself, and many between seventy-five and eighty would rather not be considered aged.

We talk hopefully of a man's being only as old as he feels, but no matter how he feels a man of fifty impresses
the youth of twenty-one as verging
upon the sere and yellow, if not already there. Our memory goes back to the time when a woman of thirty-five looked almost hopelessly aged to us, and now we know vivacious girls of forty. And Daisy Ashford opened her immortal work by remarking:
"Mr. Salteena was an elderly man of forty-two." We don't know at what age elderliness begins for Daisy now, but if she lives long enough she will reach the point where her way of classifying Mr. Salteena would be to say that he was a young man of forty-two.

Seeing With the Soul.

What you see with your soul helps determine what you are. The mind cannot contemplate visions without reactions. The deeper the vision the more potent the reacting influence.
Only surface men men of the non-thinking type go through life without moments of sober sitting at the shrine of conscience and there weighing the problems of life. When man sees his power and appreciates that every unused vestige detracts in multiples he seeks to turn it to account. And it blesses in proportion to the enthusiasm with which it is advanced. The good we do returns with greater power
when it is done without thought of reward. We are in the world to make the most of it. We must see the soul if we are to gather the full reward of our possibilities. This is every man's right.—Grit.

At the death of a person in Switzerland the family inserts a formal,
black-edged announcement in the papers asking for sympathy, at the same time the "mourning urn" will be exhibited during certain hours, on a special day. In front of the house where the person died there is placed a little black table covered with a black cloth, on which stands a black jar. Into this the friends of the family drop little black-bordered visiting cards, some times with a few words of sympathy on them. The urn is put on the table on the day of the funeral. Only men go to the churchyard and the women
generally follow the hearse on foot.

Bright Idea.

"What is the name of this ne-
dance?"
"A name hasn't been found for it, yet."

"But that must be done."
"Of course. A committee is going out to the 'zoo' this afternoon and watch the antics of the animals. An appropriate title is sure to suggest itself."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

AMENDMENTS BY REFERENDUM

Representative Johnson of New York proposes an amendment to the Federal Constitution providing that the question of the ratification of all future amendments to the Constitution shall be submitted to popular vote in the various States. This proposition is likely to be widely supported, in the future if not at the present time. A referendum on a constitutional amendment by the country at large would be objected to as a departure from the original idea of State sovereignty or free action by States, but a referendum within the lines of each State, such as Mr. Johnson proposes, would not further depart from the original scheme that does the popular election of Senators, which was previously a function of legislatures based on the principle of the State as a political unit.

The popular referendum idea, as it has been urged of late years and actually attempted in a few States, is manifestly impracticable as well as undesirable. The people have not the time and too many of them not the needed intelligence to enact all or many of the laws at the polling places. They could not go to the polls every Tuesday and Friday even if this were not too expensive. Representative government must stand because nothing else is feasible. But it is possible and altogether desirable that the people themselves occasionally speak their minds on some great question at the polls, in order that the real sentiment of the majority may be revealed for the guidance of State legislatures and of Congress. Direct voting in each State on the question of ratifying a constitutional amendment is a proposition that is supported by every argument that was urged in favor of the popular election of Senators.

A GREAT LOSS

The fact that the constructive minds of the country frequently do not bring their possessors into prominent public notice is illustrated in the career of the late E. W. McKenna, whose passing a few days ago, closed the career of one of America's best informed men on railroad construction, operation and financing. Mr. McKenna began at the bottom in the railroad business having served first as a telegraph messenger in 1862 when but fourteen years of age. From one position to another he worked his way up by merit alone, having neither connections of influence nor the advantage of inherited wealth. His mind readily grasped and analyzed the essential facts regarding any business proposition confronting a railroad official and his executive ability insured the success of his undertakings. It was largely due to his ability that the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway reached its highest point of efficiency. Although he had retired from active railroad work a few months prior to his death, he did not lose his interest in the welfare of the transportation system of the country, and it is generally known that he rendered valuable assistance to those gentlemen in Congress who were froming the railroad bill, recently approved by the President, under which the railroads were returned to their private owners. Mr. McKenna was a Republican in politics and one of whom the party may well be proud, although he was never prominent in its national organization.

DOES NOT HOLD

On the subject of the defects in the government of the United States, it is the prevailing opinion, given to the British Empire over our own, that says in Washington Post. The British empire is allowed six votes, one for each of its six constituent parts, for certain components of the empire. No one other nation, whether empire, monarchy, or republic, is allowed more than one vote. The reason for this for his discrimination is that Britain's components are self-governing, but this idea will not stand the test of analysis. The suggestion that India is self-governing merely invites derision, while the claim that Canada and others are self-governing does not hold in the matter of international relations. None of the components of the British empire can make treaties, declare war, contract alliances, regulate foreign commerce, set up rulers, change their form of government or enact laws in conflict with the British constitution. Their self-government is "local," like the government of an American State, and they all declare their allegiance to the King of England. If the components of the British empire are entitled to separate votes each American state is equally entitled to a vote on the same ground, namely that, that it is self-governing. The Philippines are more self-governing than India.

HELP CONGRESS CUT EXPENSES

Senator J. S. Frezenhuysen of New Jersey recently made a statement regarding American finances which shows that the estimated expenditures for the fiscal year 1920-1921 amount to $9,000,000,000, while estimated revenues amount to only $5,000,000,000. It is manifest that either the estimated expenditures must be diminished, the estimated revenues increased, or bonds must be sold to make up the difference. The policy that shall be pursued must be determined by Congress which is now Republican. The executive departments are responsible for the estimated expenditures which exceed the estimated revenues by $3,000,000,000. Congress has repeatedly attempted to cut the expenditures but at every point has met the opposition of the Democratic Administration. In its efforts to cut expenses, Congress needs the moral support of the taxpayer of the country. Citizens everywhere should write to their Representatives in the Senate and the House assuring them of their approval of the policy of retrenchment in Federal expenditures.

THE DIFFERENCE

The United States has several thousand miles of boundary with Canada on the north and several hundred miles of boundary with Mexico on the south. The northern boundary is nothing. The southern boundary has cost it more than $1,000,000,000 in the last nine years. There is no difficulty in protecting United States citizens in Canada. Hundreds of them have been murdered and hundreds more of them robbed in Mexico. Between Canada and Mexico is the difference between orderly, civilized self-government and the turmoil of the tropics, where self-government breaks down because of the physical handicaps the climate imposes on the race.

ADOPT ARTICLE X.

The Lodge reservation, Article X, has been adopted by the United States Senate by a vote of 56 to 26. Fourteen Democrats voting in favor of the proposition, although President Wilson is said to have objected strenuously to it. The reservation as now framed will go to a final vote when the treaty and the covenant of the league of nations together with all other reservations, come up for final vote. It is predicted the treaty and covenant will fail because of a lack of the necessary number of votes and if this be the case, the treaty of Versailles will be as dead as a mackerel, so far as the United States is concerned.

RAIL REPAIR NEGLECTED

Prior to the war the railroads were buying from 2,500,000 to 3,000,000 tons of rails per year for use in extending or maintaining their tracks. During the past year under Government operation, the railroads used only 1,000,000 tons of rails for similar purposes. It is very evident, therefore, that on the return of the roads to their private owners the tracks are not up to the normal condition. The private owners must make increased expenditures during succeeding years in order to make up for the neglect which the roads suffered under Government operation.

A London dispatch reports "The head of one of the five greatest banks of the British Empire" as saying: "I believe that the world looks on America's policy as one of self-interest and cowardice. We must not be accused of being a selfish financier is not helping Germany after the British fashion of taking away from her a few hundred thousand square miles of territory, a few billion dollars indemnity and all her shipping and opportunities to engage in foreign trade. Naturally, a nation engaged in these benevolent enterprises cannot understand the selfishness of the United States in hesitating about financing the transaction."

The coal area of Washington county is equal to the area of the Saar valley basin, from which Germany secured her greatest coal supply, but which is now under control of France for a stipulated number of years. The production of coal in Washington county in 1919 was over eighteen million tons, and while these figures are impressive, yet the mines were not working to capacity, as the output for the year was over three million tons less than in 1918. Many of the European powers would consider themselves wealthy if they had the mineral riches of our own Washington county.

The National Bank of Commerce of New York, in its March Commerce Monthly, says that lower prices for commodities are probable as a result of contraction of domestic consumption and a decline in exports due to unfavorable European rates. The bank expresses the opinion, however, that these influences will not bring on a radical price drop, but that there will be a gradual readjustment. Retailers, generally, are buying with caution, and if the decline comes, do not want to be caught with too many high price goods.

Governor Allen of Kansas says the "fair-minded leaders of labor" would admit that "the rights of women and children and the general public to an adequate supply of the bare necessities of life are superior to the right of labor or capital to stop production in the interests of a selfish quarrel." Unfortunately there are people who "admit" and then fail to act accordingly, and in this case, though the fair-minded might admit the others, as has been shown, are numerous enough to engineer a strike notwithstanding.

LAND COMPANY TO HAVE BIG LOT SALE

Within the next thirty days the Stockdale Land and Improvement company owned and operated by Monessen men, will inaugurate a lot sale for homes for workmen and for investment that will be of interest to the entire upper Monongahela valley. This company was incorporated in December of last year, after taking over the Riggs farm of 163 acres, a small part of which is being plotted to secure 100 choice building lots.

The new plan located between Stockdale and Roscoe on the improved brick road, and is calculated to meet a growing demand, owing to the fact that large extensions will be made by the Pittsburg Steel Products company at the Allenport plant, which will bring a large number of workmen to that place. These men must have homes and the natural growth of the community must betaken care of.

A full and complete announcement of the plans of the company will be made in a short time and it is expected that a sale of lots will take place some time in April.

CREEK BRIDGE WILL SOON BE COMPLETED

The bridge being constructed over Pigeon creek, between VanVoorhis and Hazelkirk, will soon be complete. This structure was washed out several months ago during a flood stage on the creek. The abutments and girders are now in position and the balance of the structure will soon be in place.

ROUGH FUNDS ARE EXHAUSTED

Belle Vernon borough is not able at this time to assume any further financial load, and as a consequence the matter of repairing the Fairhope road inside the borough limits has been laid aside. This matter was decided at a meeting of the borough council last week.

Notice.

A meeting of the Stockholders of the Acme Brewing Company for the purpose of voting upon a $10,000.00 increase of the present indebtedness of the Company will be held at the office of the Company in Bentleyville, Pa., on Tuesday, April 20, 1920, at 2 o'clock p. m. Wm. H. Zellers, Jr., Secy.

Resolutions protesting the "excessive cost" of financing church movements and campaigns were adopted at a meeting of the Pittsburgh Presbytery held Monday afternoon in the chapel of the First Presbyterian church at Pittsburgh. The movements referred to were the New Era Movement and the Inter-Church World Movement. An increase in the budget of 62 per cent over last year was accepted. Several hours were occupied in the discussion of the resolutions. The merits of the movement were questioned and also the legality of the act of the New Era committee in setting the budget for the presbytery.

WILL OPERATE SAND DIGGER BY ELECTRICITY

Electricity is to take the place of steam on a new dummy sanddigger which the J. K. Davison & Bro. Sand company is contemplating building. The experiment will mark a new era in sanddiggering operations in the local rivers and will doubtless arouse widespread interest when it is tried out. Steam will be discarded on the boat and all operations on the boat will be made by electricity, an official of the company said yesterday. The hull and equipment of the sanddigger will be of the latest and best type, according to present plans. The boat will measure 165 feet in length, with a beam of 12 feet and a depth of six feet.

PLAINTIFF TAKES VOLUNTARY NON-SUIT

The case of the Uniontown Grocery company against the Fredericktown Mercantile Co-operative company, on trial in common pleas court at Washington on Tuesday, came to a sudden end when the plaintiff firm took a voluntary non-suit. Developments in the case indicated that the court might give bonding instructions for a verdict for the defense.

The point on which the case terminated was over whether or not the defendant association was a legally chartered one, and if so if that charter was of record, or did the firm which sold the defendant association goods know it was chartered. If regularly chartered and public notice of that was given through it being recorded or by some other public notice, then the members of the partnership were not liable for the bills of the association. It developed in the case that through the fault of some one the charter was never recorded and it appears to have been lost. The letter heads of the association on which correspondence passed between the plaintiff and defendant contained the printed statement that the company was chartered and that the partners were not liable.

Following financial difficulties the defendant association failed and was sold out by the sheriff. The plaintiff had sold a bill of goods to the defendant company while it was in existence at Fredericktown, where it owned a store.

DONORA APPROVES TWO BOND ISSUES

Two bond issues, one for $170,000 for the school district, and another for the same amount for borough purposes, were approved by the voters of Donora at a special election held on Wednesday. About one-sixth of the voters of the borough participated in the election, and each of the propositions had an overwhelming number of the votes cast. For the school bond issue the vote was 335 for and 55 against. For the borough bond issue the vote was 319 for and 60 against. While the vote was light, the preponderating sentiment of the people of the borough was for the issues, and consequently they carried by large majorities.

It is the purpose of the school board to erect a modern school building from the proceeds of the bonds which they will issue, in order to take care of the increasing number of school children of the town. The new building will be for high school purposes, thus relieving the present building.

The borough will use the proceeds of the bonds it will issue for street improvements and the construction of storm sewers. Work on both of these projects will begin just as soon as weather conditions are favorable.

FUNERAL SERVICES LARGELY ATTENDED

Funeral services for Lieut. Harold F. Wetherham, late of the American Expeditionary Forces, were held at the First Presbyterian church Monongahela, at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon. The services were in charge of the pastor, Rev. F. McKee and music was furnished by the male quartet of that city. Former service men under command of Capt. James E. Gee, acted as escort of honor, while eight sergeants and former comrades of the deceased, acted as pall bearers. The church was crowded to its capacity with relatives and friends, many coming from a distance to attend the obsequies. Many of the officials of the county were present, while C. Thompson, Col. Martin and Sher. Gray were among those who were in attendance. The interment took place in the Monongahela cemetery.

Some think that the League of Nations is still a dream, but British French and Italian troops, taking it granted that it is reality, have made a joint military demonstration in Constantinople, where something of the sort is badly needed.

of your eyes and ears. Lincoln said: "I do not think much of a man who is not wiser today than he was yesterday." It is our belief that "Honest Abe" would express considerable admiration and commendation for the majority of American housekeepers today, who are more than ever making use of their eyes and ears. We ourselves are learning by new experiences and information gathered each day.

The consumers who buy from us are proving the most progressive, their savings continue to grow, the sum of outlay for eatables being of the right proportion. They buy their groceries from us at the lowest possible prices, as we operate under the most economical retail system known.

LANE IS TO LEAD SALVATION ARMY

Former Secretary of Interior is Chairman, 1920 Committee

Franklin K. Lane, who recently resigned as Secretary of the Interior Department, has accepted the chairmanship of the national committee in charge of the Salvation Army's home service appeal for 1920. This is Mr. Lane's first big civic work after leaving his cabinet connections.

In a letter to Commander Evangel Booth Mr. Lane declared that sympathy for the suffering people of other lands must not cause America to neglect her own poor and unfortunate classes.

FRANKLIN K. LANE.

"In all our thoughts for other people, we may not rightfully forget those on our streets," writes Mr. Lane. "The girl who has stumbled, and sees no refuge but the grave, the man who has been broken, through repeated disappointment, dissipation or disease, the neglected unloved child, the Salvation Army speaks words that are healing to the spirit, holds out a supporting hand and starts them on the way upward out of the slough of despair. If we were not all intended to do this kind of work then I believe the teaching of a thousand hundred years has been in vain."

Mr. Lane has made it clear to officials of the Salvation Army that he intends to be a working chairman in the great appeal. Asked to deliver an address at the request of the Salvation Army he readily acquiesced, but he said "I should like to address the workers themselves—men and women who are actually doing this work."

Number Flatirons.

Nowadays the housewives who use electric irons are legion, but the day of the old flatiron is not quite past. For those who still use them, an easy way to insure getting the right irons in turn is to number each with a piece of white chalk, 1, 2, 3, 4, and so on.

Apparently Contradictory.

Recently I attended an evening party where "chill con carne" was served. During the repast the five-year-old daughter of the family looked up and said, "Daddy, why do we call it chilly when it is so hot?"—Exchange.

Just an Idea.

Little Wilbur, age three and one-half years, was watching his grandmother while she was scaling fish and, after the operation said: "Do their backs itch, 'cause you scratch 'em, granny?"

Imparting Information.

Bartlett had heard his parents speak most of their conversations, so upon learning his first few words he greeted his father that evening with: "Daddy, we're going to R. A. T. (picture show)."

Duly Announced.

Mary, upon answering the door bell found a couple of women who had stopped to call. As she let them in she called to her mother: "Mother, you have a couple of customers."

Troublesome Weed.

The hawkweed, introduced from Europe to Canada and the New England states, has become one of the most troublesome weeds in grass lands.

Edenic, What?

"The bride was gown'd in white hyacinths and autumn leaves formed the decorations."—Boston Transcript.

Known by Their Headress.

In primitive times the headress as a distinctive mark, representing the organization of groups of men.

Post-Holiday Reflection.

A holiday is a day when most people feel less hollow than usual.

Sure Death to Corns

"Gets-It" Makes 'Em Lose Their Grip and Lift Off Painlessly.

The first thing "Gets-It" does when it lands on a corn or callus is to snuff out the pain. Then it shrivels the corn or callus and loosens it.

Soon, it is almost ready to fall off. You help it just a little by lifting it off with thumb and finger. You don't even feel it, because there is no hurt left in it. Millions have proved it the cleanest, surest, safest and most pleasant method. "Gets-It" is the never failing, guaranteed money-back corn remover costs but a trifle at any drug store sold by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

Sold in Chicago and recommended as the world's best corn remedy by Frank J. Law and P. J. P. Pharmacy, Carrolls Drug Store.

And our costs have jumped!

A TELEPHONE battery—or dry cell—costs over twice what it cost before the war.

Thousands and thousands of them are used every year to keep our service going.

Many other supplies have about doubled in cost.

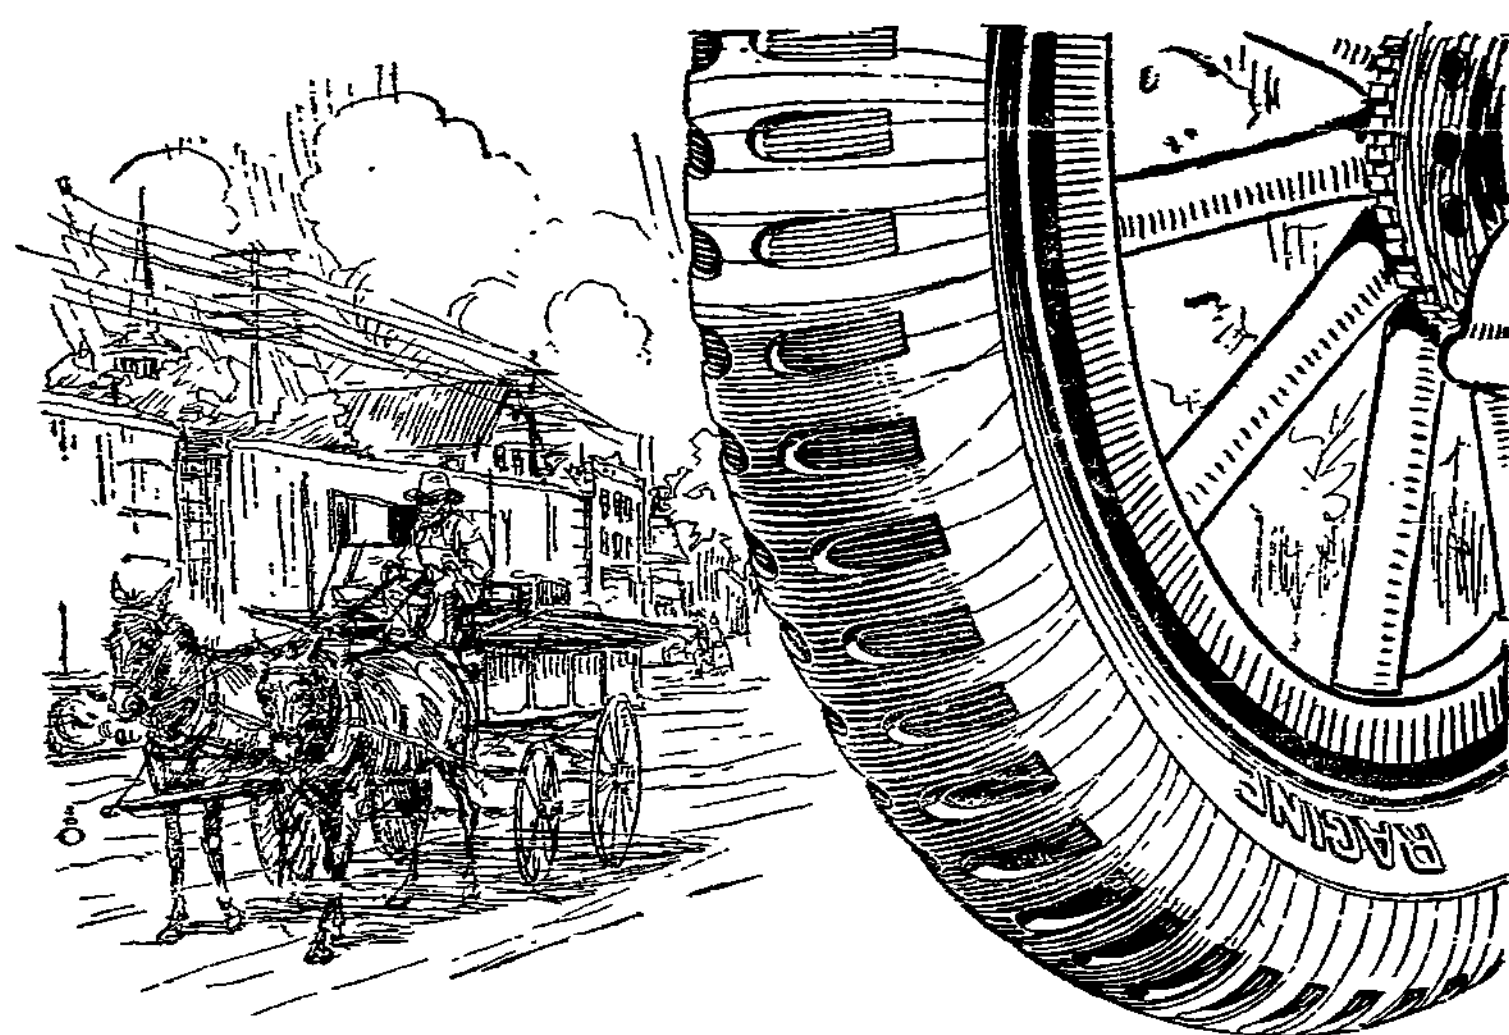

Yet our rates are just what they were before the war.

We can't keep it up! Adequate rates is the only answer.

It's your service.

"EXECUTED" HIS DEAD BODY

Stern Decree of Justice Carried Out on Corpse of Ancient Dalmatian Archbishop.

Dalmatia has made rapid strides in science and literature, the story of her culture, however, being one of personal achievement rather than public advancement. Zara, its largest city, for example, had no printing press until 1798, while Venetian Dalmatia had only one public school in the eighteenth century.

Roger Joseph Boscovich, one famous son of Dalmatia, was esteemed by scientists for his work setting forth a new atomic theory, but more popularly known because of the adoption of his plan for assuring the uprightness of the dome of St. Peter's at Rome when a crack was discovered in it. He wrote verse voluminously, but not as successfully as he wrote his numerous scientific treatises.

Marco Antonio de Dominis, another Dalmatian of public note, mingled theology and natural philosophy with serious consequences to himself. He set forth the first correct explanation of the rainbow, but his theological career was less fruitful. As archbishop of Spalato he attacked his superiors in his writings, fled to England; returned to Rome, then did penance by writing a book refuting his heretical works. He was tried, but died before the trial ended. The trial went on and he was sentenced to be dragged through the streets of Rome and buried publicly. His body was removed from his coffin and the sentence executed.

SHOWING VALUE OF "FRONT"

Impetuous Author Wise in Expenditure That Less Far-Sighted Friend Objected To.

There is a young author who has arrived, and therefore has only, when he wishes a new suit or a large steak or a set of automobile tires, to sit down at his typewriter and dash off a few careless lines, and eager editors do the rest. Once upon a time, however—and, unlike the fairy stories, that doesn't mean long, long ago—this worthy young man's assets were so near the vanishing point that his numerous creditors became uneasy and threatened a total discontinuance of supplies. Something had to be done, and that quickly. The author did something—he took a famous financier with whom he happened to be acquainted to lunch at the most expensive and conspicuous restaurant in town. When it was over he walked home for lack of another nickel.

"You are not as bright as you might be, my boy," he patiently explained to a protesting friend as he cheerfully borrowed a quarter. "Several of my largest creditors always lunch at that place, and I knew they would recognize the man I was with. Why, that lunch is good for at least 60 days' extension on my accounts."

Showing Rattlesnake's Age.

Another ancient belief is shattered by science. The number of rattles a rattlesnake has is determined not by his age, but by the number of times he sheds his skin, as the decision given out by the curator in charge of the reptiles in the New York zoo. A baby rattlesnake is born with only a button, but soon afterward he sheds his skin and has a rattle. Every time he sheds his skin he gains another, and he usually does this three times a year, although seasonal or food conditions may vary this.

"The rattle is rather a delicate organ," writes the curator. "The snake wears out the older rings dragging them around over rough, rocky ground. A rattle seldom attains a length of more than 10 or 11 rings, as when that number has been acquired the vibration at the tip, when the organ is used, is so pronounced that additional segments are soon worn, broken, or lost."

Through the Soul's Eyes.

Physical eyes may measure the possibilities that return effort in terms of dividends, but it takes vision of the soul to become a benefactor to your fellow. Effort for personal gain must be selfish beyond measure if it does not benefit more than the first actor. Even when it does not seem to be a help to anyone there are reflexes that are sure to reach men in various walks of life. But the world needs the work of the greater man. He may seem mediocre to his fellows. They may even coddle themselves into imagining their own superiority. What he does will show the difference. Intuitively he will sense the need of the times and without seeming to patronize he will make people appreciate him as friend—Exchange.

Churches Observe Candlemas Day.

Candlemas day, celebrated as the day of Christ's presentation at the temple, is observed in the Anglican, Roman and Greek churches, February 2, this day being the fortieth after the birth of Christ, on which the purification of the mother and the presentation of the son should occur according to Levitical rules.

The institution of the festival is attributed to Pope Gelasius, in the latter part of the fifth century, in many details showing itself to be a Christianization of the pagan Februalia, celebrated in ancient Rome at about the same period. The special services of the day among Roman Catholics consist of a blessing of candles by the priests.

Josephine's Horoscope.

Is there such a thing as seeing into the future? Yes. Here is one of the many testimonials to the solemn gift: When the Empress Josephine of France was a girl in Martinique, an old colored woman, named Euphemie, "told her fortune." "You will marry a fair man. Your star promises two alliances. With your first husband you will have a tragical lawsuit. Your second husband, a dark man of sterner means, will fill the world with his fame and glory. You will be greater than 'queen.' You will die unhappy." The entire prediction came true.

Hairy Elephants.

Historians tell us that, in prehistoric times, mighty mastodons and mammoths were covered from head to tail with a very coarse hair which, in many cases, grew long. So the elephant's forefathers had long hair but, as the world changed with regard to weather conditions, from the bitter frosty glaciers that were encountered to the modern climate of extreme heat and cold, the elephant gradually doffed his overcoat. The hair sometimes seen on the top of his head alone remains as a reminder.

Hundreds of treasured cameos and trinkets, for which large sums have been paid, are spurious, although many of them are masterpieces of art. To such an extent have cameos been forged that, after a certain French count had spent $25,000 in forming a collection, so many forgeries were found among them that, in despair of separating the false from the true, he parted with the lot for a fraction of what they had cost him.

The Peanut.

The peanut is a member of the pea family and the "nut" is more accurately described as a pod. It is grown from seed in many tropical and subtropical lands, a long warm season being necessary for its maturity. It flowers above ground, then the stem bends downwards, the young pod enters the soil and there matures. No roots are ever attached to the nut; the fibers, mistaken for them, are from the stem.

Markets in China.

China is a land of markets. They are held in every city and town, and even in the small villages. Where there is no regular market place, much of the buying and selling is done out of doors. But there is hardly a village that hasn't its regular market plot. In the larger towns and cities there are several.

Lighthouse Apparatus of Metal.

The optical apparatus of the lighthouse of Gallia, an island off the coast of Tonic, is entirely of metal. The great parabolic reflector, the largest metallic mirror in any lighthouse, is of gilded bronze 7 feet 5 inches in diameter, with a focal length of 26 inches and its 202,000 candle power flash can usually be seen 30 miles at sea.

Firms and Families.

A firm is like a family—it is bound together by mutual interests. Just as families quarrel and ruin their homes, so the members of a firm may quarrel and ruin their wages and profits. But a normal family does not quarrel. It develops a family feeling, and all combine to protect each other.

Stars of "Dipper."

The stars of the "Little Dipper" are all constantly moving at tremendous velocities and mostly in different directions, say astronomers, but so vast is their distance from us that they have not changed their relative positions to any appreciable extent within the memory of man.

Invisible Ink.

The simplest of all invisible inks is milk or, better still, buttermilk. If used with a perfectly clean new pen and on unglazed paper, it will not show. The easiest way to bring it out is to iron it with a hot flatiron.

Negro Superstition.

A wood superstition not well known except among the southern negroes is that evil will follow if you touch the large patches of brown bark, frequently seen on stumps and rotten logs known as "black spots."

Rheumatism of the Worst Kind Positively Relieved

Money Back If It Fails

No matter how chronic, acute or long standing your Rheumatism, Neuritis or Lumbago may be here at last is positive relief. If it fails, you will not lose a penny, for we will refund your money without question.

Read this remarkable case: "It is with great pleasure that I am writing you of the wonderful merits of SULFLUID for Neuritis. My wife has been a terrible sufferer for 3 years from this disease and could not walk without the use of braces. Her joints were swollen to twice their normal size. Her pains were agonizing. For 2 years she was helpless. After using SULFLUID, you can imagine my surprise last evening when she walked from her chamber to the parlor in her stocking feet, the first time in 3 years she has been able to bear weight on her feet without the use of braces. Thinking this would please you, I am, respectfully, BENJ. P. WALKER."

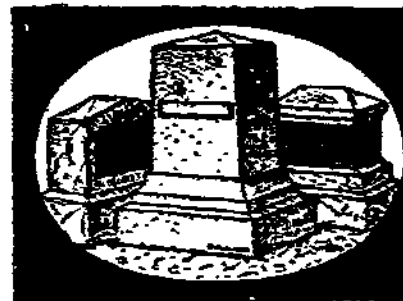

SULFLUID is not a medicine. It is used as a bath and is exactly the same as the famous Hot Sulphur Springs waters. It is a purely LARSEN. A few treatments will drive it away. It is not a medicine and does not cost money. Do not be deceived.

Piper's Pharmacy, Charleroi

When all the waters of Egypt turned to blood it must have been rather appalling. But Gerace, in Calabria, beheld a similar phenomenon in 1883, when a fiery red cloud approached from the sea, presently covering all the heavens, and a rain of blood followed. When the rain dried, however, the matter that gave it its crimson hue was found to be volcanic dust which had been carried in the clouds and deposited by the rain drops.

Tastes and Odors of Wood.

Though most native American woods are without pronounced odor or taste American Forestry notes that woods of the laurel family, such as sassafras and California laurel or myrtle, have a distinct spicy odor and taste. Port Oxford cedar has a very spicy, resinous odor; other cedars, especially pencil cedar or juniper, a more aromatic odor. Hemlock has a slightly sour odor, while cypress is somewhat rancid.

LYCEUM JR. WIN THE LEADERSHIP

The Lyceum, Juniors, basket ball team went to Pittsburgh on Saturday evening last to play the Marquette Club of that city, and defeated their opponents by a score of 20 to 14 in a fast and spirited game. At the end of the fourth quarter the score was a tie at 13-13, when an extra period of five minutes was played, in which the Lyceum boys scored 7 points to their opponents one. In this period the Lyceum caged three field goals and one foul. The Marquette club claimed the championship of the 17 year old class of western Pennsylvania, by defeating the St. Mary Lyceum of Sharpsburg and now the Lyceums claim this honor. Mahoney, Schramko and Ritzer played fine ball for the Lyceums. The line-up:

THESE FIREMEN ARE VERY MUCH PEEVED

West Brownsville firemen are
"peevish" over the failure of the recent proposed bond issue, the purpose of which was to provide for a new borough building and have designated their home in letters so large that those who runs may read.

On one side of the hundred dollar sized in which they are obliged to house their $10,000 fire equipment, to the acquirement of which not a penny was contributed by the borough government, they have painted in large red letters: "61 Citizens of West Brownsville think this Good Enough for the Firemen." On the other side in letters as large is the query: "Are you one of the 61?"

A meeting of the fire company was held Wednesday evening, at which time a committee was appointed to go before town council at its next meeting and ask that a suitable building be erected for the accommodation of the fire truck and the storage of the other equipment of the company.

MONON. ELIMINATED AS A CONTENDER

Monongahela was eliminated in the contest for the basket ball championship of the W. P. I. A. L. by the McKeesport team in a fast contest at Trees gymnasium, University of Pittsburgh, Wednesday night.
The score was 41 for McKeesport to 33 for Monongahela. The game was thrilling from the start. The rivals battled along on even terms and the outcome was in doubt until Mc-Keesport made a spurt in the fourth quarter, which gave them a commanding lead. McVicker was the star scorer for the loser, but the guarding of Benedict was the feature of the contest.

BRINGS SUIT FOR DAMAGE TO AUTO

P. L. Coyle, of Charleroi, has brought suit against S. R. Calvert of Monongahela, to recover $500
alleged damages to the automobile
of the plaintiff, as the result of a collision with a truck of the defendant.
The accident occurred October 8, 1919, on the road between Monongahela and Charleroi. The statement of claim sets forth that the defendant's truck was driven by one of his employees. It is alleged that he was on the wrong side of the road
and that the driver was intoxicated.

FINED FOR OPERATING A BASE BALL POOL

William Irwin, manager of the Naylor pool room, McKean avenue,
was given a hearing before Burgess Woodward last evening, charged with operating a base ball pool, in violation of a borough ordinance. After ascertaining what the evidence would be, Irwin entered a plea of guilty and was fined $10 and costs.
The information was made by Chief Albright on information received.

CAR SERVICE FOR MINES SHOWS SOME IMPROVEMENT THIS WEEK

Slight Relief to the Mines Is Shown This Week

PRICE CONTROL IS RESENTED

Some little relief is being accorded coal and coke operators this week in the matter of car placements, a distressing factor in both industries which had been at a depressingly low average, practically the entire winter. The placements for this week for coke will run about 60 per cent of requirements and for coal about 40 per cent. That placement is a clear increase of 10 per cent both for coal and coke in the average that has prevailed for some months.

The improvement is held to be the result of the changed weather rather than to the return of the railroads to private ownership, although all concerned agree that the resumption of operation on a competitive basis by the railroads in due time will bring a change for the better, but to what extent remains to be worked out.

Railroad systems, however, have gone at the car problem in a practical way and the efforts of the campaign now under way are expected to make their appearance shortly. The campaign of the railroad systems is being conducted upon two plans. One is the restoration of the per diem charges for the return of cars to the owning carrier and the other is a personal check upon each car delivered to a consignee to hasten its unloading and return to the point of origin.

The per diem charge is assessed against a railroad system receiving a car not owned and remains in effect until the car is returned to the owning carrier. The plan enforced by all lines expedites the return of equipment and is calculated to bring transportation service to a high point of efficiency.

Continued price control of coal and coke remains an unpopular topic of general discussion in the coal and coke industry and operators have now reached the point where they have ceased to ascertain the reason for the restriction upon their industry as against a free market in all other lines of endeavor. They are now concerned with having the industry freed from federal interference and while no definite action has been taken, so far as is known, is contemplated. General opinion in the industry is emphatically to the effect that the limit of endurance has been reached.

MISSING FROM HOME; DIES IN CINCINNATI

Mr. and Mrs. George Lutze of Coal Centre received a telegram Thursday morning announcing that their only son, Herman Lutze aged 28 years, a veteran of the world war who had been missing from his home since September 2nd last, had died in a government hospital at Cincinnati on Monday.

While serving in the 11th Infantry 28th Division, Lutze was badly gassed but recovered sufficiently to return to this country and was discharged from the service in April, 1919. Also a victim of shell shock he was inclined to be melancholy, but apparently showed no other ill effect.

He left home suddenly last September and nothing was heard of him until the telegram came Thursday telling his family of his death. After he left home his parents made every effort to locate him, securing the aid of the Red Cross and civic bodies in their search for their son, but no trace of him could be found.

The body of the young man reached Coal Centre Thursday afternoon and funeral services were held this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock with interment in Howe cemetery.

James F. Garrigan. James F. Garrigan died at his home, 709 McKean avenue, at 11:55 o'clock this morning, aged 50 years. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Margaret Garrigan, one daughter, Mrs. J. Kenneth Patterson of Bensenville, one son, Edward Garrigan, two grandchildren; his mother, two brothers and three sisters of Pittsburgh. Funeral services will be held at 9 o'clock Monday morning, March 22, with Requiem High Mass at St. Jerome's church, interment in Calvary cemetery. Mr. Garrigan was a highly respected citizen of Charleroi and came here twenty years ago as a bottle blower with the Hamilton Glass company, retiring from active service about two years ago.

Fiendish Husband Placed In Jail on a Serious Charge

Andrea Nichipouku, a Russian, was lodged in jail at Washington on Thursday night, to be held to await action in connection with what is believed to be one of the most brutal murders in the history of Washington county. The man was accused by his wife on her death bed of beating her and trampling her under his feet, that she sustained internal injuries from which she died a short time later.

The wife, Mollie Nichipouku, aged 25 years, and the victim of this fiendish crime, died Wednesday evening at the home of Aaron Lush on a farmer living near McMurray in Peters township, this county. The young woman, in a dying condition was found Wednesday afternoon almost buried in the mud of a cornfield on the Lushen farm. The attack made on her by her husband had taken place in a woods some distance from where the woman was found. The husband had beaten her into insensibility and then left her, believing, no doubt, that she was dead. Regaining consciousness, she managed to drag herself across a field, over a creek and into the cornfield where she became exhausted and swooned away. It was there she was found in an unconscious condition.

She was taken to the Lushen home and a physician summoned. After regaining consciousness she told the story of her husband's brutality, which resulted in his arrest at the Union station in Pittsburgh, as he was trying to escape from the penalty of his fiendish deed.

Nichipouku is described as being vicious in appearance and apparently he was unmoved by the fact that he must answer to the most terrible of all charges, that of wife murder.

Harrisburg Visit Was To Stimulate Action on This Highway

HOPE FOR SPEEDY ACTION

The visit of the Washington county delegation to Harrisburg on Wednesday may have an important bearing on the proposed improvement of the Speers-Coal Centre road, which has been promised for so long both by the state and the county officials. The needs of this highway was the real reason for the visit of the county officials to Harrisburg, and members of the delegation on their return home, expressed themselves as being very hopeful that something will be accomplished on this stretch of road in a very short time. Work on this highway has been held up by the Pittsburgh Railway company, so the state officials claim, the tracks of this company running parallel with the roadway, while it crosses the highway at many points. While the railways company is said to be willing to help in this project, the company is in the hands of receivers, and for that reason has been unable to co-operate, so it claims with the state and county officials. Commissioner Sadler assured the members of the delegation that the highway department was ready to go ahead with the project just as soon as an adjustment could be made with the railways company. The Washington county commissioners are also anxious to get to work on this stretch of highway, and steps will be taken at once to come to some agreement with the railways company.

The importance of this road, further enhanced by the fact that the big tubemill at Allenport is to be enlarged, and this improvement will require many hundred additional men, once the plant is completed and running to full capacity. Citizens along the highway between Speers and Coal Centre are hoping that something definite will be speedily accomplished.
